Qvest expands rental division’s portfolio of EVS solutions with LiveCeption

09/04/2024

Cologne, September 4, 2024: As part of a multi-million-euro investment, Qvest has selected EVS’s premium live production and replay solution LiveCeption® for its Rental Division. The latest solution complements Qvest’s impressive stock of EVS servers as well as its live production asset management solution MediaCeption®. Furthermore, it has already been successfully deployed for the European Football Championship in Germany and the Summer Games in Paris.

With EVS’s latest products and solutions, including 20+ XT-VIA® servers and LSM-VIA® replay systems as well as several XFile3® units (connected archive and transcording), IPDirector® content management suites, and EVS’s high-speed media sharing network XNet-VIA®, Qvest has one of Europe’s largest install base of EVS equipment and is ideally positioned with even more flexible and scalable solutions for major live events in the field of sports, news, and entertainment. This expansion underscores the company’s commitment to continually invest in innovative live production technology for both national and international customers that have come to expect customized technical systems, flexible rental models, and full-service project logistics.

EVS's LiveCeption solution provides operators with fast and direct access to content on the high- speed network so that they can create compelling replays and highlights. The EVS solution also guarantees support for all the latest formats and codecs, as well as flexibility between SDI and IP (SMPTE ST2110) workflows, positioning Qvest with a future-ready solution that is adaptable to the evolving needs of its customers for short or long-term projects.

Manfred Eisele, VP Sales DACH at EVS said: “We deeply value Qvest's trust in EVS and we are confident that our LiveCeption solution will add value to its existing portfolio with increased flexibility and unparalleled live storytelling capabilities."

Your media contact at Qvest: press@qvest.com

Henning Miehe, Key Account Manager Qvest Rental: "With this expansion of our EVS portfolio, we ensure that we can offer our customers the most modern and flexible technologies for their production requirements. EVS’s latest solutions allow us to respond to the ever-growing and changing demands of the broadcast industry and provide our customers with customized solutions for their individual needs."

Your media contact at Qvest: press@qvest.com